Sarah Jane Brown Contemporary Welsh Landscape Painter

Press Release

Pembrokeshire artist Sarah Jane Brown to exhibit in major national marine art exhibition in London

A recent painting by Sarah Jane Brown titled 'I'm Blown Away' has been selected from over 1,100 submissions to appear alongside paintings by some of Britain's leading marine artists. A notable achievement, as a record number of entries were received this year in what will be the Society's largest ever exhibition to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of its Royal Charter. The exhibition will be on display at Mall Galleries in central London between 28 September to 8 October 2016.

Sarah Jane is thrilled with this recent news, and is looking forward to seeing her painting displayed in the Mall Galleries amongst other fine examples of marine art. This is the second time that her work has been selected for the Royal Society of Marine Artists prestigious Annual Exhibition; one of her paintings was also selected and displayed for the Annual Exhibition in 2012.

The Royal Society of Marine Artists Annual Exhibition has come to be recognised as the most prestigious and varied exhibition of marine art in the UK. The exhibition's theme is the sea and everything related to it, from beaches and creeks to harbours and boats. The premier marine art exhibition in the country, it will feature over 400 works from emerging and well-established artists across a range of media, including oil painting, watercolour, pastels, prints, and sculpture. All work is available for sale, so anyone can take some of the sea home with them.
